CURRENT SITUATION

Current Situation

Dixie Fire West Zone: The fire continues to burn out in the heavy material and was moderated by the smoke settling over the fire area. Active fire was limited to ground fuels, consisting of backing and flanking fire. Interior pockets continue to burn through the night, most are well interior of the perimeter. The diminishing humidity recovery aided in consumption of the heavier fuels. The southeast flank of the fire continues to burn in multiple directions due to varying winds.

Incident Videos

Crews continue to fight fire aggressively, construct and reinforce control lines, and protect structures. Mop up efforts have begun where appropriate. Light downslope and drainage wind this morning will transition to a light west southwest wind along ridgetops this afternoon with lighter terrain driven winds in the sheltered valleys. A warming trend continues over the area with highs in the 80's to low 90's in the valleys as high pressure takes hold over the area. Heavy smoke will continue to hamper visibility throughout the day as it is

Current Situation	trapped under high pressure. The smoke will be in the fire area longer and may limit air operations throughout the day. Residents are encouraged to stay vigilant and to monitor evacuation information and road closures, including social media and local law enforcement websites for the most current information. Residents will see smoke coming from trees and stumps for days following their return. Proceed with caution because burned out areas may have unseen hazards. Residents are encouraged to call 911 if they are concerned about any active flames near their homes or businesses. Damage assessment remains ongoing. Change in threatened structures due to new Evacuation Warnings in Lassen, Plumas and Shasta County. *A firefighter assigned to the Dixie incident passed away on September 2, due to an illness. Dixie Fire East Zone: A high pressure system will maintain stable hot and dry weather creating smokey conditions today. Very dry fuel conditions and shifting winds will cause potential for rapid fire spread resistant to containment. Yesterday, the Dixie Fire was very active, with extreme fire behavior observed in the Coyote Hills, Horton Ridge, and the Ross Canyon areas. Shifting winds challenged firefighters and the fire progressed southeast into very dry and dense forest fuels. Spot fires established in Ross Canyon and off Horton Ridge threatening Dixie Valley, where engine and hand-crews protected structures by removing brush, built indirect fire line, and installed hose lays and sprinkler systems. Aircraft assisted ground crews with extensive retardant and water drops. Four scooper aircraft spent most of yesterday afternoon scooping water from Frenchman Lake and dropping it on the fire backing down the escarpment above Highway 395, while helicopters on the south end worked to keep the fire confined to the top of the escarpment. Air and ground crews worked closely with firefighters from the West Zone to reinforce fire lines on the north flank, while on the south flank, firefighters steered the fire towards the of the already blackened terrain in the Sugar Fire on the Beckwourth Complex, a fire that occurred earlier this summer. On Turner Ridge, crews are securing the line and mopping up heat with water, gradually working from the line into the fire’s interior. Resources continue to hold and improve dozer and handline stretching from Clover Valley to the east side of Lake Davis, and patrol and monitor the long and now mostly cold line on Grizzly Ridge. South of Taylorsville, helicopters helped to hold the fire in Devil’s Punchbowl as firefighters improved the line already built in the very steep terrain north and south of Montgomery Creek. Structure protection
